

Taxes Will Not Be Reduced This Year; Only Re-Adjusted

BY DAVID LAWRENCE (Copyright, 1921, by Times Pub. Co.) WASHINGTON, July 25.—Taxes for the year 1921, which must be paid next March, will be reduced slightly, if at all. The painful truth that after all the talk about economy, the American taxpayer will not be rid of his war burden, is at last being admitted by leaders of the Republican party. Secretary Mellon of the Treasury department, on the one hand, has told the ways and means committee of the House, that judging by what has happened (thus far fully four billion dollars in revenue will be needed to run the government, and Senator Penrose has intimated on the other hand, that he had little hope of seeing taxes reduced. It will be remembered that Secretary Houston, of the Democratic administration told the country last year that he did not believe government expenses could be cut below four billion, and that therefore that all promises of lower taxation were unwarranted. So a Republican Secretary of the treasury now agrees with a Democratic secretary of the treasury in naming four billion dollars as the government budget, and all hopes of lower taxation are going glimmering. Mr. Mellon has gone a step further by telling the Republican ways and means committee another painful fact, namely, (Continued on Page Six)

New Scandal Arises In White Sox Probe

CHICAGO, July 25.—A new baseball scandal was brewing today as agents of the state's attorney continued their frantic search for immunity waivers and confessions, signed before the grand jury last fall by Eddie Cicotte, Claude Williams and Joe Jackson. Information in the hands of George Gorman, assistant state's attorney, indicates a New York gambler paid $10,000 for the papers soon after they were stolen from the state's attorney's files, Gorman said. Another development of today was the discovery that a signed statement made by Williams in the office of Alfred Austrian, attorney for the White Sox, has disappeared from Austrian's files. In this statement, which was made public by Austrian when Williams went before the grand jury, the ball player detailed the ramifications of the alleged plot to lose the 1919 world's series. The grand jury evidence apparently dropped from sight during the confusion incident to the retirement of State's Attorney MacKay Byrne and the taking over of the office by State's Attorney Crowe. The papers were seen, so far as can be learned, about three days before Byrne's term ended, when Byrne's secretary, George Romney, clashed with H. J. Replogle, assistant state's attorney, in charge of the investigation, after Romney had demanded that the grand jury records be turned over to him. Replogle finally surrendered the documents after receiving orders from Byrne. The papers are said to have appeared in New York during the hearing of the extradition proceedings against Albe Attell, who has been named by H. J. Replogle, a state's witness, as a ring-leader in the alleged plot. An attorney for Attell, waiving venue papers in court, declared "I have here the full proceedings of the Cook county grand jury." It was said. Other reports being investigated by the state's attorney include one that the New York gambler who is said to have purchased the stolen evidence later offered to sell it to a New York newspaper when he found there were no particularly damaging references to himself. The newspaper declined to buy, and efforts of the disappoint- (Continued on Page Six)

GREEKS ARE ADVANCING

ATHENS, GREECE, July 25.—The Greeks in Asia Minor have been following up energetically the victory they gained over the Turkish Nationalists in the fighting brought on by the attempt of the Kemalites to recapture the important point of Eski Shehr on the Bagdad railway. The Greeks captured forty guns and took a great number of prisoners. Within a short time after the close of the battle and the definite repulse of the Turkish effort the Greeks had advanced more than 25 miles to the east of Eski-Shehr and were continuing their pursuit of the enemy towards the interior.

Murder, Suicide?

AKRON, O., July 25.—Officers today are working on the murder and suicide theory in the deaths of Patrolman Paul C. Trotter and his wife, Bessie Trotter, yesterday. The patrolman died at a local hospital an hour after receiving a fatal bullet wound into the top of his head, fired, it is believed, while he slept. Mrs. Trotter fell dead in a front bedroom some 30 feet from her husband's room, shot four times. Her husband's 38 calibre revolver, with which all five shots were fired, was found in her right hand. Police early worked on a double murder theory. Two roomers from upstairs quarters, however, rushed down after hearing the shots in time to see Mrs. Trotter fall with the smoking revolver. Jealousy is given as the motive. The couple had been married four years and had no children.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 25.—The Imperial bank of Imperial, Pa., near the Beaver county line, was robbed by six bandits shortly after noon today. The robbers escaped. Four of the bandits entered the bank, held up three officials of the institution, backed them into a room in the rear and then broke down a door leading into the cashier's cage. They seized two or three boxes containing about seven hundred dollars in silver money, and running into the street, jumped into their automobile. Cashier S. B. Calhoun fired four shots in their direction and they returned the fire as they sped toward the Ohio line in the direction of Steubenville.

4,000 UNION CARPENTERS LOCKED OUT

CLEVELAND, O., July 25.—Approximately four thousand union carpenters were locked out by contractors here today as a result of a strike of forty members of the carpenters' union because they were not allowed to put up metal trimmings on a building under construction, according to W. F. Hennessy, secretary of the building trades employers' association. Union officials denied four thousand men were laid off, but declared that, as soon as the open shop program, announced by the builders, was put into effect it would mean a general tie-up of the building industry in the city. Contractors admit that until enough carpenters are secured under the open shop plan, building will cease. Union officials declare that as soon as non-union or other carpenters are put on the jobs' members of all other unions will refuse to work with them making the tie-up complete. Following the lock-out an employment bureau for carpenters, signing individual contracts with contractors, was opened at headquarters of the employers' association. City Building Commissioner Summerville says that $35,000,000 in building work will be affected.

The cabinet, which began its session during the forenoon, met at the Mansion House. The countess, who was sentenced last December to two years' imprisonment at hard labor, on the charge of having conspired to organize a sedition society, is an elected member of the southern Irish parliament and minister of labor in the Republican cabinet.

Japan's Acquiescence Smooths Way For Disarmament Meeting

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Apparent acquiescence by Japan in the insistent suggestion of the United States that definition of the scope of the conference on Far Eastern subjects and limitation of armaments should not be made a condition of the acceptance of the invitation was recorded here today as holding the international barrier to proposed by President Harding. Although the decision of the diplomatic advisory council, which met at Tokyo Friday, has not yet been communicated to Secretary Hughes, there was manifest in official quarters today a tendency to accept as correct Japanese press reports that Japan would accept the invitation to join the discussion. Official definition of the character of the latest communication sent by the United States to Japan was withheld, but it is understood that Secretary Hughes, through the American embassy at Tokyo, reiterated the hope he had already expressed in conversations with Ambassador Shidehara that Japan would accept the invitation to discuss questions of the Orient and that questions of the agenda of the conference could then be taken up.

Hill, to investigate charges of conspiracy with liquor sellers, made against Safety Director David Scott, who has been suspended by Mayor Fred J. Warnock, pending the result of the investigation. Other officials are said to be implicated. Mayor Warnock, however, declares that the investigation is a political move to hamper him in his campaign for re-nomination.

CLEVELAND, O., July 25.—Samuel Hardy and Lyle Mahan, of New York, doubles championship of the U. S. here, defeating Howard and Robert Kinsey, San Francisco brothers, three sets to one.

INTERNATIONAL BOOZE RINGS IN EXISTENCE, SAY FEDERAL OFFICERS

NEW YORK, July 25.—Federal authorities along the Atlantic coast reported today, following disclosures of evidence indicating the existence of at least two gigantic international whiskey smuggling rings, one having headquarters in this city and one in Atlantic City. Aid of the navy department also was being sought in an effort to build up a rum-hunting fleet capable of coping with the mysterious ships and their allied fishing smacks, which are alleged to have landed hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of contraband liquor at secluded points under cover of darkness. According to Leroy W. Ross, United States district attorney of Brooklyn, foreign and domestic capital aggregating several million dollars is behind the whiskey smuggling conspiracy. Keenest watch was being kept by revenue boats today off Montauk Point, toward which authorities were tipped, a large vessel was bound from the Bahama Islands with a cargo of 15,000 to 20,000 cases of choice Scotch and Irish whiskey. The conspirators, learning that word of the sailing had reached federal officials, were reported to be trying frantically to get in touch with the whiskey runner to direct her to another point less carefully watched. A tramp steamer cruised stealthily outside the three mile limit off Atlantic City yesterday, according to reports of Brooklyn, foreign and domestic. (Continued on Page Six)

ENJOIN SHIPPING BOARD

NEW YORK, July 25.—A temporary injunction restraining the United States shipping board, the Emergency Fleet Corporation and the United American lines from interfering with the operation of the ships seized from the United States Mail Steamship Company was issued here today by Judge William F. Burr of the state supreme court. Bainbridge Colby, formerly secretary of state, now associated with Woodrow Wilson in the practice of law, has been retained by the company.

Mother And Father Killed, Five Children Hurt In Crash

COLUMBUS, O., July 25.—Mrs. Ellen Frew, 42, Bicknell, Ind., was killed and her husband, Henry Frew, 47, and their five children, injured, the father fatally, when their automobile skidded, and upset, east of here, early this morning. The father died in a hospital here. The family was en route home from Pittsburgh, where they attended on Sunday the funeral of Mrs. Frew's mother, who was killed in an accident. The extent of the children's injuries has not been fully determined. Two sons, William and Alex, escaped with minor injuries, but another son James 15, and two daughters, Helen 10, and Elizabeth 8, sustained possible fractures of bones and serious bruises.

Auto Dealer And "Prospect" Disappear; Police Search

Steubenville, O., July 25.—Searching parties who spent Sunday and all night scouring the highways and adjacent ravines of Jefferson county for trace of Harry Cummins, Jr., aged 33, local automobile dealer, who disappeared Saturday afternoon while demonstrating a car for a stranger, returned to the city this morning without having picked up a single clue to the whereabouts of the missing man, his unknown companion or the machine. Police admit they are completely baffled, the disappearance being the most mysterious that has come to the attention of the authorities here in years. Chief of Police Blaine Carter, who went to Wellsville, seeking information regarding the stranger who claimed to be a barber of that place, "phoned in this morning that four suspects had been picked up there. The chief also reported that the barber's home had been located, but that his wife had not seen him for a week. Search for the missing man is being conducted in that section.

France And Great Britain Have Effectuated Compromise

PARIS, July 25.—A compromise has been effected between France and Great Britain regarding the Silesian issue as a result of new exchanges. Premier Briand, it is announced, will probably agree to a meeting of the supreme council about the middle of the first week in August and withdraw his demand for a meeting of experts.

In return for this Great Britain has been asked to join with France in requesting free passage through Germany of reinforcements. At an interview between Sir Milne (Cheetham, the British charge d'affaires, and Philippe Berthelot, general secretary of the French foreign office, it was made clear that France strongly desired to eliminate the divergence of views between the two countries, which although it existed only to procedure, was being exploited by Germany. France still desired to send reinforcements to Silesia, it was explained, and Great Britain was urged to ask Berlin for assurances of safe transport. The meeting of the supreme council will be held at Boulogne or Paris.

Banker Planned For His Flight

CHICAGO, July 25.—A statement that the disappearance of Warren C. Spurgin, president of the Michigan Avenue Trust Co., which was closed by bank examiners last week, was planned in advance and came simultaneously with the disappearance of Spurgin's wife and daughter, Vivian, was made today by Ben Newman, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office.

Mr. Newman's statement came after an interview with Herman Byler, university student and fiancé of Miss Spurgin, according to Mr. Newman's statement. Byler said Spurgin confessed to the embezzlement of sums of money to Mrs. Spurgin some days previous to the flight and also confessed to an affair with another woman. Byler said, Newman stated, that he helped Mrs. Spurgin and Miss Spurgin arrange their household goods for a long absence and drove with them in the Spurgin automobile to Gary, Indiana, last Monday.

Spurgin had left previously, he asserted. Byler received several letters from Miss Spurgin, he told Newman, including one from Detroit, where the automobile later was found.

In her last letter to Byler, Mr. Newman said, Miss Spurgin spoke of the nearness of the Canadian line, and added: "You know what that means."

ALONZO WHEELER, STEELWORKER, DROWNS IN OHIO RIVER NEAR DYKES; BODY RECOVERED

The Ohio river claimed another victim Sunday afternoon at 3:54 o'clock when Alonzo Wheeler, aged 25 and who resided with his family at 814 Prospect street, drowned inside of the dykes about 200 yards from the bathing beach at the foot of Brown street.

Despite the fact that the beach was dotted with bathers none could get to Wheeler in time to save his life. He could not swim and was holding onto a log and was paddling around when he became detached from the log and sank to a watery grave.

A searching party was immediately formed and an effort was made to find the body last night. However it was not recovered until 10:35 this morning when it was found by Fleming Rice and Elva Stenbo of 18 Union street. They used a hook on a long pole and it caught in Wheeler's bathing suit and he was brought to the surface.

When the body was taken to the shore Mrs. Wheeler was there and recognized it as her husband. It was later removed to the Windel mortuary, where it is being prepared for burial.

After hearing the news of her husband's tragic death Mrs. Wheeler lost no time in reaching the scene of the drowning.

When convinced that it was her husband she fainted and it was some little time before she revived. Mr. Wheeler left his home yesterday at 1:30 p. m. and said he would be back after a plunge in the Ohio. That was the last Mrs. Wheeler saw of her husband until his dead body was found this morning.

Mr. Wheeler came here seven years ago from his home in Johnson county, Kentucky. In addition to his wife he leaves a step-daughter, Beulah Scott, aged 14, his parents and several sisters and brothers. He finished his work in the galvanizing department in the Whitaker-Ginsburg plant last Friday night.

Mr. Wheeler was overseas two years. He enlisted here and received his training at Camp Sherman. He was a young man of exemplary habits and was liked by everybody who knew him. Corner J. D. Hendrickson proved the body this morning and will render his verdict later.

New Idea For Doctors Is To Keep Patients Well

NEW YORK, July 25.—Emphasis in the training of doctors is shifting from cure to disease prevention, says George E. Vincent, president of the Rockefeller Foundation, in his review of the activities of the organization, abstracts of which were made public today.

"It is often said that if all available knowledge about causes of diseases were actually applied the world over, millions of lives could be saved every year," he said. "This statement is true, but it may easily mislead. One is likely to infer that enough public health officers and sanitary engineers could usher in a hygienic millennium. But the thing is by no means so simple. It must be remembered that about 80 percent of the menace to life is not dealt with by public authorities. The idea of prevention then will have limited influence until it is accepted not merely as a government policy, but as a guiding principle in individual lives."

"Education of whole communities and nations, changes of habits of thought, a new attitude toward disease and toward medical service, are essential conditions of progress. So, far from discarding the doctor, this new regime will give him a changed but no less indispensable task. He will increasingly be called upon to keep his patients well."

To Close Up Shop
Harkening to requests of attorneys Judge Thomas has decided to close up shop during the month of August and after next Saturday Common Pleas court will run on an extremely slow bell for thirty days in order to give the local legal fraternity an opportunity to take a brief vacation.

During the vacation Judge Thomas and a number of the attorneys will take advantage of the opportunity to attend the annual session of the American Bar Association which will be held at Cincinnati.

Alleges Cruelty
Alleging cruelty and declaring that he falsely accused her of unchastity, Effie Farmer, Nauvoo, seeks a divorce and alimony, in an action filed in Common Pleas court Monday against Willis J. Farmer, now living at Channery, Adams county, whom she married April 7, 1919.

Through Attorneys Blair and Blair the plaintiff in her petition complains that Farmer beat and abused her and in June 1921 says she was compelled to and did leave the defendant because of his vile treatment. Farmer is a coal miner capable of earning good wages, she says, and she asks that he be required to pay her attorney fees in addition to alimony.

Mrs. Wright Gets Divorce
On the grounds of neglect and cruelty Nora Wright, 511 Offshore street, was granted a decree by Judge Thomas in Common Pleas court Monday, divorcing her from James Wright, whose present whereabouts are unknown.

They were married Dec. 9, 1916, and separated a number of times, the last time in 1920, because of his misconduct and refusal to support her, she told the court. Several witnesses testified as to the good character of the plaintiff.

The wife was represented by Attorney Russell McCurdy.

Treasurer Gilbert Dadds and his force of clerks started the work of checking up the tax duplicates Monday and as this will require a week the treasurer "announced that any person that overlooked payment of their June taxes may square up at any time before next Saturday without paying the usual added penalty."

Pearl M. Cornett, formerly of 1628 Twelfth street, now living at Ashland, Ky., was granted a divorce from Farmer Cornett, 1736 Eighth street, by Judge Thomas in Common Pleas court.

They were married Sept. 11, 1915, and separated in July 1918 when he ordered her to leave, she stated. The divorce was granted on the grounds of cruelty and infidelity and the plaintiff was given the custody of their four year old child.

Evidence in the case was submitted to the court several days ago. Attorney L. A. Thompson for the wife.

RUMPUS OVER FIGHT FILMS

NEW YORK, July 25.—Tex Rickard, promoter of the Dempsey-Carpentier bout, and F. C. Quimby, motion picture producer, today admitted to United States Attorney Hayward that they had caused films of the fight to be brought across the state line from New Jersey.

Mr. Hayward, who summoned the pair for examination in connection with an advertised attempt to show the movie in New York, said after a conference with them that they had asserted they believed transportation of the film was no violation of the federal law and that any offense there might be would consist in public exhibition of it.

Mr. Hayward announced that the frankness of the two men would not make it necessary for him to place the matter before the federal grand jury. He said that he would proceed against them by means of an information charging them with a misdemeanor.

Mr. Hayward asserted that the pair had intimated they would plead guilty to violating the interstate commerce law if such a charge were formally brought against them. The maximum punishment on conviction would be a year's imprisonment, or a thousand dollars fine.

Rural Carrier Gains 15 Pounds Taking Tanlac

"I certainly picked a real winner when I got Tanlac for the medicine has built me up fifteen pounds in weight and got me to feeling so well the people on my route are asking me what makes me so cheerful." Was the statement made by William Hildebrandt, well known Parcel Post carrier, residing at 1518 South Elting St., Philadelphia.

"I guess it was being exposed to the weather changes that started me down hill. Anyhow, several months before I got Tanlac I saw my sturdy health had slipped away from me. My appetite was so poor I was hardly eating a fourth of my regular amount of food, and even this upset my stomach. This indigestion seemed to weaken my whole system, and I was quite 'wobbly' at times from weakness. I couldn't get any sound sleep at night, and I often wondered how I ever would be able to put in the day. My back hurt so bad I could hardly turn over in bed or get up in the morning, and I felt so miserable all the time that exhausted would hardly describe my condition."

"But I don't feel now like I ever had a sick day in my life. I could feel Tanlac toning me up from head to foot after I had taken only one bottle, and four bottles has simply made a new man of me. My muscles and nerves seem as strong as steel, and my breakfast, dinner and supper are big, hearty meals, and I enjoy every mouthful without a bit of suffering afterward. My work isn't a bit of trouble to me, and my friends along one route can't talk to me long without hearing something about Tanlac."

Sciotoville Tent Meetings

Evangelist Neighbour brought two splendid messages yesterday to attentive audiences.

At 10 a. m. he gave a splendid exposition on the so-called Lord's Prayer. He gave the scriptural, expositional and dispensational setting of this prayer. The Lord gave to His disciples. Those in attendance enjoyed the deep soul food which was given out.

At 7:30 p. m. he gave a wonderful message on the "Feast of Belshazzar." The awfulness of sin was portrayed in a thorough, logical way. The audience was stirred, conviction was deep, the power of God was present to heal, but many refused to yield, while others came to the altar in surrender to the Lord Jesus.

If you wish soul food, if you wish to hear heart-felt, stirring messages and your heart helped in your Christian life, come to these meetings, which are held every evening at 7:30 p. m., except Saturday evening. Send your young people to the afternoon services at 2:30. If you love the ministry of prayer, meet with us in the Baptist church at 6:45 p. m. every evening before service.

The subject for tonight will be "The Signs of the Times."

Nervous Headache of Ten Years' Standing Is Relieved After Taking Chiropactic Adjustments. Also Appendicitis

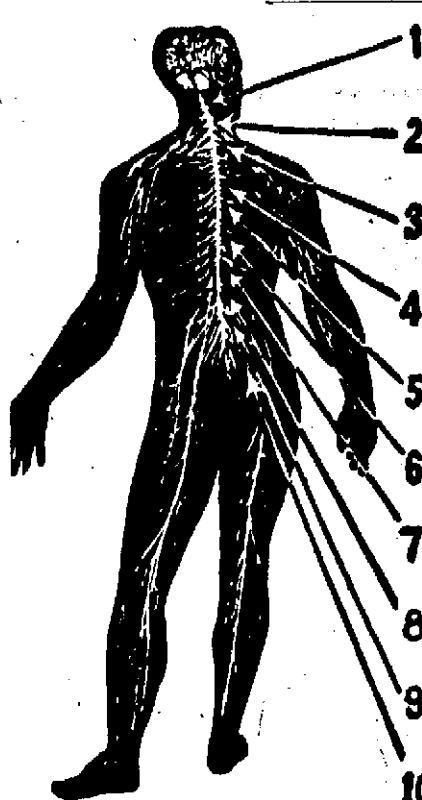

We removed the cause of the trouble and Nature Cures

Chiropactic Adjustments have certainly put me on my feet, and I think they are one of the greatest things Science had founded yet.

I suffered for at least ten years with terrible headaches in the back of my head, would have them three and four days each week. I also suffered with backache so bad I was awake every hour in the night. I could get no relief from the doctors. Our family doctor said at last there was nothing to be done but an operation. He made arrangements at the hospital but I changed my mind; then we were sent to New Jersey, two doctors there told me they could do nothing. It was the same old story. Then we finally moved to Portsmouth. By that time I was hardly able to stay on my feet, could do no work of any kind, was in untold pain; went to two different doctors in Portsmouth and they both refused me help, only with the knife. I was about ready to consent to go to the hospital, when I met a friend of mine that knew my condition, asked me why I didn't try their doctors, Knechtly and Knechtly. Said she was getting such good results. Chiropactic being new to me I had never heard of it, so thought I would try it and see if they could give me any relief, although I must confess I hadn't the least bit of faith, as I had been disappointed so many times before. After the examination I began the Adjustments, went back the next day for another with one of my headaches; I could hardly get to the office but that was the last one I have had, I kept right on taking them and when I had taken six I saw a great change, I continued until I was cured. I firmly believe I am as all my aches and pains are gone and I never looked or felt better than I do now and I owe it all to Chiropactic Adjustments, and I feel as though I never can say too much for them.

JUNIOR CHOIR MUSICAL IS SUCCESS

When the Junior choir of Allen Chapel marched in the church with their robes of spotless white, singing as the organ pealed forth with the strains of "Holy, Holy, Holy," it was one beautiful sight. The sacred music given last night exclusively by the Junior choir, with two or three other numbers, was a success.

The choir, under the efficient supervision of the organist, Mrs. Mattie Price White, sang many selections.

Then our own Attorney H. A. Taylor, gave a most interesting talk on "Christian Education," which delighted the audience.

His talk was followed by a duet by Mrs. Mattie Price White and Mrs. Mary Wade, being rendered with much feeling.

Mrs. Belle Penman recited beautifully, so characteristic of her. Then the organist, Mrs. Mattie Price White, played a beautiful organ selection and rendered a most touching solo, "Pure and Holy," in her own sweet manner, so pleasing to the audience.

The soloists of the choir, Mrs. Gladys Nichols, Miss Virginia White, Miss Laura Rowe, sang their parts so very sweetly.

The Junior choir needs to be commended not only for its beautiful renditions, but for the making of their choral roles. Mrs. Gladys Nichols, Miss Lillian Ferguson, Mrs. Mattie Price White, Miss Virginia White were so kindly assisted by Mrs. Wm. Price. We wish to thank everybody who in any way contributed to the success of the musical, and Mr. John Jackson for the program that he had printed.

THE COMMITTEE.

Hoover Says America Ready
To Save Russian Children

RIGA, LETVIA, July 25—The telegram sent by Herbert Hoover, as head of the American relief administration with regard to aid for the starving and sick of soviet Russia, was handed to M. Gametsky, soviet minister to Letvina, and forwarded by him to Moscow this morning. Although the decision rests with Moscow, the opinion is expressed in soviet circles here that Mr. Hoover's terms probably will be accepted.

"The conditions are that the Moscow authorities give a direct statement to the relief administration representatives in Riga (a) that there is need of our assistance, (b) that American representatives of the relief administration shall be given full liberty to come and go and merge about Russia, (c) that these members shall be allowed to organize the necessary local committees and the local assistance free from government interference, (d) that they shall be given free transportation of imported supplies with priority over traffic; that the authorities shall assign necessary building and equipment and fuel free of charge, (e) that in addition to the imported food, clothing and medicines the children and the sick must be given the same rations of such local supplies as are given to the rest of the population, (f) that the relief administration have the assurance of non-interference of all its members.

"On its side the relief administration is prepared as usual to make a free and frank undertaking first that it will within its resources supply all children an dancetis alike without regard to race, creed or social status. Second, that its representatives in Russia shall engage in no political activities.

"I desire to repeat that these conditions are in no sense extraordinary but are identical with those laid down and accepted by the twenty-three governments in whose territories we have operated."

Cut Down Gas Bills.
Comparatively few people realize that the gas bills may be cut down materially by exercising care in lighting the gas. Hold a lighted match over the burner, then very slowly turn on the gas. If the gas is turned on full force before the match is applied, a slight explosion occurs which affects the meter and sends it forward rapidly.

To Keep Well.
A knowledge of the law of immunity teaches that when our health is at its best our restraining power is at its best. Hence we say we are immune to disease. While it is wise and necessary to avoid, control and destroy disease-producing germs wherever found, it is very necessary to render the body as nearly immune as possible and then keep it in that condition.

Ancient Iron Currency.
Sword-shaped bars of iron were used by the ancient Britons as money, and many of these are now found in British museums. A recent investigation shows that six different denominations were used, distinguished by their sizes.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly Wise—I am writing to you for a little information. I would like to know the names of the shoe manufacturers of Columbus, Ohio. I would like to have this printed in tomorrow night's Times. Thanking you very much. ANXIOUS TO KNOW.

The Riley Shoe Co., 244-388 Park street; the Wolfe Shoe Co., 42-50 S. Front; the Bradford Shoe Co., 236 Nelson street; the C. & B. Shoe Co., 206-210 W. Mound; the Kropp Shoe Co., 111-117 E. Long street; the Wear-Well Shoe Co., 42 S. Front.

Miss Wise: I am engaged to a fellow that I have gone with since childhood. We used to go to school together. He used to go with other girls and I with other fellows, but we always went back to each other. He hasn't gone with any girls for about three years and I have gone with boys at different times.

A month ago I met a fellow at a private dance. He and I have fallen in love with each other, we think. He has been out to see me a few times and I enjoy his company very much.

The one I am engaged to doesn't know I have had the company of the other, but the other one knows I am engaged and doesn't want to hurt the other one's feelings.

When I am with the one I am engaged to I think I love him better and when I am with the other I think I love him.

(1) Can a girl love two fellows?
(2) Would it make any difference, knowing the one such a short time?
(3) Do you think it could be love at first sight?

L. G. W. II.

(1) A girl only loves one man at a time enough to marry.

(2) Time tests love. Infatuation seems to be love for a while, but it is not lasting. I do not believe "the other one" as you call your last love, cares very deeply for you or he would not feel so badly about hurting your fiancé's feelings. If "the other one" loved you he would ask you to break your engagement and marry him.

(3) You seem to have a case of love at first sight, but only time can tell whether it will be a lasting love.

Sciotoville, O.—Dear Dolly—Please tell me in what state a girl can get married at sixteen years of age? If a girl lives in one state and goes to another and marries can she be brought back home? Should a girl arise and offer her hand when being introduced to a boy? Thanking you for the advice.

IN DOUBT

A girl of sixteen may be married, with parents' consent, in Iowa, Texas and Utah, and at the same age, without parents' consent, in Maryland and New Hampshire, only. If she is not of marriageable age in the state in which she lives, her parents can bring her home. It is the courteous thing for one to rise when being presented to anyone.

TIMES SERVICE PATTERN

A POPULAR DRESS STYLE (FOR SLENDER FIGURES)

Pattern 3591 is portrayed in this model. It is cut in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. A 34 inch size will require 3 3/8 yards of 24 inch material.

Tricotine, serge, tulle, linen, chambray and gingham are attractive for this design. It is also good for power and shantung. In tan linen with white soutache, bringing this will make a serviceable "day" dress. The width of the skirt at the foot is 2 yards.

Jacintha—Under the circumstances, I think it would be all right to telephone the young man, and I think he would not think the less of you for it. Unless he is very unreasonable, I'm sure he will consent when he realizes how it couldn't be prevented.

Dear Miss Wise—I have been keeping company with a young man for nearly a year. I have never gone with another fellow steady as my family always objected. A little while ago he told me that people say that he is not treating me right as he ought to give me a chance to go with other fellows. It hurt my feelings badly because I love him and I just couldn't give him up. Do you think he doesn't like me any more and is making that a way to get out of it? We are engaged and expected to be married when things brighten up.

EILEEN M.

It looks as though the young man is taking that way to say that he does not care for you as much as he did, and that he wants to be free from the engagement. If he loved you and intended to marry you, he would be unwilling to have you go with other men. If he no longer loves you, the sooner you know it the better. Ask him to be frank with you, and in the future be very sure that you love one sufficiently to become engaged and that he cares for you the same way.

Mrs. B.—The grass stains may be removed with alcohol without any injury to the material, I'm sure.

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

CHERRY'S FRIENDS

Cherry found plenty of time, however, to cultivate the friendship of the four or five people she had taken a liking to in Wellburg. She had a slumbering friend in Laura King and whenever she had a moment to spare that lady was sure to have a call from Mrs. Randall Jr., night or day. Then there was young Mrs. Wilders, a wife of three years' standing, who had become a firm ally of Cherry's shortly after her arrival in town.

Josh Wilders was a tall, dark girl, with an ingratiating personality, and plenty of ambition. She had married Joe Wilders, one of Wellburg's promising "business" men, at twenty, and after the first year of matrimony had longed for something to do outside of her small, dainty bungalow, which almost ran itself, so perfect was every detail.

Cherry's arrival in town, plus a head and thinking apparatus of her own, and a friendliness warming to the soul, had been an unexpected joy to Mrs. Wilders. From the start she and Cherry had become fast friends. The two girls understood each other and were interested in many of the same things.

"I think that Mrs. Wilders is one of the most charming and intelligent women I have met here," had been Cherry's description of that lady the day after meeting her.

"Beth Wilders is intelligent; that's the pity of it," Mrs. Randall had made answer, sharply. "The trouble with her, and with lots of other people, too, is that she doesn't know when she is well off. That's where she falls down in her intelligence. Why, Joe Wilders is just as much in love with her as he was when he first married her and he gives her everything her heart desires, and she doesn't know enough to be happy, or even act happy. That's not clever, for Joe gets real cross about her moods often. Says there's nothing can really please her, no matter what he does. Such women don't deserve good husbands like Joe. And when you stop to think of a nice affectionate capable little girl like Arline Bates being single still, it seems as if the Lord did overlook things sometimes. Beth considers that most of the women here are stupid, and you'll be a heap better off away from her. Cherry dear, than listening to her complaints and advanced notions all day."

"Maybe she is all you think mother, but I don't think that Mrs. Wilders has everything she wants by any means and it's not her fault if she reaches out for what Wellburg folks consider the impossible. Every human being is different and, as you know, 'What's one man's meat, is another man's poison.'"

"I think she has proven to be one man's poison, true enough," answered Mrs. Randall, firmly, as she left the room.

Division 4 of the First Baptist Ladies' Aid will meet Tuesday afternoon, at 1:30, old time, at the home of Mrs. Charles Williams, 2124 Ninth street.

ports received here, and taunted federal agents by breaking out pennants saying: "Lay down your money and come and get it."

The tramp slipped away as night fell and it was thought she was heading for some deserted point where floating vessels could work unhindered at the task of lightening her cargo ashore. A three masted schooner, suspected of being a rum ship, also was reported off Atlantic City.

Fishermen along the coast, according to Rosa, are reaping a rich harvest running the forbidden cargoes ashore. They work almost entirely at night, he said, making landings at points known to be free from surveillance. Their compensation is said to be $1 for every case of whiskey landed and many of the fishermen are declared to have abandoned entirely their regular trips to the fishing bank in favor of the more lucrative smuggling.

The smugglers are met on shore by automobile truck men, who whisk the cargoes away to secret store houses.

Efforts of federal agents to check whiskey running along the coast have led so far to seizure of two vessels. They are the schooner Curlew, taken last week off the coast of Florida and the fishing smack Jennie T., seized Saturday at New Haven. Government men also have boarded the British schooner Pocumoke, at Atlantic City, but as the vessel's papers show her "wet" cargo to be consigned to Canada, no action has been taken against her or her crew.

bill would yield about half the revenue of the government, but that was when the United States government could be managed with a single billion dollars.

Secretary Mellon's statement that the new tariff would yield only one fourth of the revenue needed, is a gentle hint to congress that means still be provided to raise the other nine tenths, namely, three and a half billion dollars.

While the excess profits tax will be repealed, the truth is that particular provisions of the excess revenue law has been automatically repealed by business conditions, and the only advantage in actually taking it off the statute books lies in stimulating American business enterprise which has hitherto been restrained by the excess profits tax.

Thus it has been realized for some time that in place of the excess profits, even if not repealed, some better means of raising money was necessary. No definite plan has as yet been worked out. The big fact, however, is that, instead of tax reduction, there will be tax readjustment. This means that the burden on the tax payers as a whole will remain the same, but that the taxes will be differently distributed.

The question of whether this distribution will fall less heavily on the big corporations and more heavily on the smaller incomes is difficult to settle, because congress is a political body, and the congressional elections are not so far away. The Republicans would like to repeal the taxes on soft drinks and upon transportation, while at the same time, increasing some of the taxes on business and production, but they are confronted, on the one hand, by the desire to relieve the small taxpayer, and, on the other hand, by the knowledge that economic conditions cannot be much improved or unemployment diminished unless American business is free from the restraints of overtaxation.

New Scandal Arises

ed gambler to recover his $10,000 have so far been unsuccessful.

State's Attorney Crowe is preparing to lay evidence in connection with the theft of the records from the grand jury.

Players Tell Their Own Stories

CHICAGO, July 25.—Eddie Cicotte, Joe Jackson and Claude Williams, former White Sox players, told their own stories in the baseball trial today, of how they confessed to a special grand jury last fall that they had received money to throw games in the 1919 world's series.

Each of the three men declared that his confession had been made only after Judge Charles A. McDonald, who ordered the baseball scandal investigation, Harpley Replegle, former assistant state's attorney, who directed the inquiry, and Alfred Austrian, Chicago-American League attorney, had promised them that their confessions would never be used against them and were wanted only so that baseball gamblers might be "trampled under foot."

Their testimony was given with the jury absent from the court room pending a decision from Judge Hugo Friend as to whether the confessions are admissible as evidence in the case. The defense maintained the confessions were involuntary.

Cicotte and Jackson admitted that they had "signed something" in the grand jury room, but did not know whether it was an immunity waiver.

Cicotte said that he had broken down and cried while Judge McDonald heard his story and that much of what he did on that day was simply a hazy memory. Under cross-examination he replied to many questions: "I don't remember."

Jackson's testimony kept the court in an uproar of laughter when he told of repeated jibes about the time of the grand jury investigation, and explained that he had gotten two court bailiffs drunk.

Fight Over The Admission of Evidence

CHICAGO, July 25.—The fight over admission as evidence of the grand jury confessions of Eddie Cicotte, Claude Williams and Joe Jackson, former White Sox players, was resumed when the second week of testimony in the baseball trial began today.

Harpley Replegle, former assistant state's attorney, who directed the first grand jury inquiry, was ready defense over his testimony Friday for further cross-examination by the state that the confessions were made voluntarily and that the players were not promised immunity.

The evidence over the confessions is being presented with the jury absent, pending a decision by Judge Hugo Friend as to its admissibility. The original copies of the confessions and the immunity waivers the players are said to have signed are said to have been lost or stolen. If Judge Friend rules for the state, the testimony will be repeated before the jury.

In these confessions, according to state attorneys, Cicotte declared that he was paid $10,000 to throw the games. The money was given him in advance—placed under his pillow—he testified. Cicotte named the eight White Sox players who were indicted as parties to the alleged conspiracy. Williams told of a meeting in Cicotte's room in a hotel here, between the players and J. J. Sullivan, of Boston, and Rachel Brown, of New York, when the plan to throw games was said to have been discussed.

He said he was given $10,000 by Chick Gaudin and gave $5,000 to Jackson. Jackson corroborated Williams' story.

After the confession fight is settled, Billy Maharg, of Philadelphia, is expected to corroborate much of Bill Burns' testimony. Joe Gedeon, former St. Louis player, is expected to finish the state's presentation of evidence. The defense has a large number of witnesses and will probably consume most of the week with its testimony.

Consistory's Attorney On Witness Stand

By agreement of both sides, Mr. Replegle's cross-examination was interrupted while Alfred Austrian, attorney for Charles A. Consistory, owner of the Chicago-Americans, testified.

When Harry Redmon, of East St. Louis, Ill., was on the stand last Friday, the defense asked him if Austrian had not called him a blackmailer and kicked him out of his office when Redmon came here to see Austrian about testifying. Defense attorneys said Austrian had told them "these things." Mr. Austrian denied the defender's charges and said he knew nothing derogatory to Mr. Redmon. He denied that Redmon told him he would testify only if $5,000 he lost on the series were returned to him. He said he understood, however, that Redmon told "Kid" Gleason, manager of the White Sox, that he would furnish proof that the series had been thrown, if the $5,000 were returned. "I not only did not call Redmon a blackguard, blackmailer, or any other name," said Austrian, "but our relations were decidedly friendly and cordial."

Cicotte Next Takes The Stand

Eddie Cicotte, former White Sox pitcher, was called to the stand to tell his own story of how he confessed after Replegle's cross-examination had been finished, with a further denial by the witness that any promise of immunity had been made by the men who confessed.

SHOOTS WIFE FOUR TIMES, THEN FIRES 2 BULLETS INTO OWN BODY

MANCHESTER, July 25.—Charles Harmon, aged 28, living at Ellsberry, six miles west of Manchester and in Brown county just across the Adams county line, at 9:30 this morning held his 25 year old wife and fired four shots into her body, local officers said today. He then turned the gun upon himself and fired twice.

The wife was not killed and physicians are making an effort to save her life. Harmon was taken to the jail at Georgetown, although his wounds are considered dangerous.

Harmon is said to be minister of a Christian church at Ellsberry. They have only been married a few months. The woman's first husband was William Knepper who was killed about a year ago in an auto accident.

Sheriff Neu of Georgetown took Harmon from his home to the jail in a touring car. Late this afternoon he was reported to be suffering much pain, one of the bullets having lodged near a main artery in the brain. The two shots Harmon sent into his own body were in the forehead near the temple.

According to Sheriff Neu, Harmon claims that his wife had refused to live with him and as he couldn't live without her decided that it would be best for both to die.

Rev. Tillis To Enjoy Vacation

The past seven months have been a time of great progress and blessing at the First Baptist church. It was the last week of the old year, when the pastor, H. Stewart Tillis, came here from Philadelphia and the church having been without a pastor for a year had many difficult problems to solve, but it at once began to take on new life and the membership stands amazed as they look back over the past and note what God has wrought.

Nearly 90 new members have been brought into fellowship and the Bible School has gone ahead with leaps and bounds under the efficient leadership of T. W. Burton as superintendent, there being a membership in all departments of 775 and with this foundation the church is looking to God for a mighty work as the fall season opens.

The cost of remodeling the parsonage which meant several hundred dollars for material and labor, not counting the work donated by faithful men, has nearly half been met and although the church is paying their pastor $1000 more than formerly and although at the present time the industrial conditions are very dark the church has raised in all departments between six and seven thousand dollars and the financial board testify that money never came so easily.

The official board has realized for several months that because of the enlargement of the work a pastor's assistant must be secured and at the quarterly business meeting held July 13 a call was extended to Miss Beulah V. Doerr to become organist and pastor's assistant. Miss Doerr was a graduate of Moody in 1919 and for two years was a member of the "Hamilton Evangelistic Party", having had charge of the music and children's work, and at present is specializing in music at the Northwestern University. If the call is accepted by her she will begin her work Sept. 10.

The church sent the pastor, Dr. Des Moines, Iowa, to the Northern Baptist convention, he having attended more than half the conventions since they were organized, 14 years ago. He is a Baptist to the core and sticks for the old faith, believes something and knows why he believes it, but has no time for present day modernism.

Soon after Mr. Tillis arrived he opened a "Bible Institute" which has met with such success that plans are now on for covering a still larger field of study, such subjects as Missions, Evangelism and History of the Hebrews being added to the course.

Rev. Tillis and family left today for an extended tour through New York state and other points to visit friends and relatives and during his absence the pulpit will be supplied by Rev. A. K. Murphy and Rev. M. Bridwell.

Brave Girl Jumps Into Ohio Lake To Save Six

NEWARK, O., July 25.—Pausing only long enough to hastily remove her shoes, a beautiful young lady, handsomely dressed, said to be a Miss Rose, from Columbus, plunged into the water at Buckeye Lake Sunday afternoon in an attempt to rescue members of the family of Joseph Allen, of Lancaster. A motor boat in which they were riding, capsized during a storm, throwing the entire party, three men and three boys, into the water. Miss Rose located a body but was unable to bring it to the surface until he'd come.

Jesse Allen, a one armed man, was the only member of the party able to save himself without aid. John Allen, 55, walked out of the water with the aid of his cane after he was brought to shallow water. Other members of the party were rescued by persons near the scene at the time of the accident. Doctors worked for an hour to save Willard Allen, 11, before consciousness was restored. He was struck by the boat as it went down.

Search For Murderers

HAMILTON, O., July 25.—Hamilton police today were searching for a large touring automobile in the hope of finding the murderers of Arthur Conner, of Columbus. The men were seen Sunday in Middletown after the murder and Marshall Graham, of Franklin, died at them as they tried to head into a Franklin garage.

Sheriff Laubach, of Hamilton, asked Wellsville police to hold four men arrested there until they can be questioned by the Hamilton police.

EFFECT COMPROMISE

PARIS.—Britain and France effected a compromise regarding the Silesian issue as a result of new exchanges.

Foreign exchange developed a more reactionary trend, the British demand rate falling to 83.57%.

Steels and equipments made irregular extensions to early gains but fell back on the increased heaviness of oil and the sluggish movement of ralls. Some of last week's bullish activity was noted in specialties of the food division, particularly sugars, corn products, Coca-Cola and United Fruit. Miscellaneous specialties were inclined to react especially chemicals and textiles, but motor accessories including rubber tire issues held firm.
Call money was abundantly supplied at 5/8 per cent.

Recent dull and uncertain movements in the stock market were resumed today, although sentiment concerning general, commercial and industrial conditions was more hopeful. Sales approximated 375,000 shares.

The closing was irregular.

WILLOW CARD GAMES IN SOUTH PORTSMOUTH RESULTS IN ONE MAN BEING SHOT, ANOTHER BADLY BEATEN UP

Sunday afternoon Sidney Bailey, 21, well known young man of South Portsmouth and vicinity was shot in the back of the head by small shot from a shot gun said to have been fired by Everett Craycraft also of South Portsmouth.

The shooting was a sequel to several quarrels and fights between the men earlier in the day. Bailey was at the home of Frank Belt, a friend, near the cap factory below South Portsmouth today and was not in a serious condition, the shot glancing off the top of his head and not injuring his skull. They were many holes in the scalp and caused a very painful wound.

According to Bailey he had been with a crowd of men playing cards in the willows on the river bank just northwest of the C. & O. depot, several in the crowd having bottles of moonshine, while some were already pretty full, having obtained considerable of the liquor earlier in the day. Bailey claims that a quarrel with Craycraft led to the drawing of their knives, but after a short time the men stuck their knives in the trees and went to it with their fists. Craycraft, according to Bailey, had been drinking heavily and he easily got the better of him in the first fight.

Bailey claims he then walked up the bank with Craycraft, who appeared to be as good a friend as ever. Bailey says that Craycraft said he was going to get his gun to collect some money that had been won from him in the games.

His story is that sometime later, about 4 o'clock, he went down the bank again to get into the games and when he was in the weeds and willows he was fired upon. Bailey says that he saw Craycraft but that he did not see the gun which, he says, was probably hidden in the thicket. The shot grazed the back of Bailey's head. Craycraft evidently firing from a point much lower than Bailey's head. The latter was assisted to the Frank Belt home where he was attended by Dr. A. P. Hunt of Fullerton. There are eight holes in Bailey's hat on both sides showing where the shot entered. He claims he was about twenty steps away when Craycraft fired on him.

Relatives of Craycraft claim that the shooting followed a warning to Bailey, who seemed to be looking for more trouble after coming out the victor in the first fight. Craycraft's story to relatives is that when he started down the bank about four o'clock he turned to Bailey and warned him not to follow but that Bailey did not heed the warning and kept coming behind him. Craycraft took his gun home after the shooting and was about his home Sunday evening but is said to have disappeared this morning.

Bailey had not sworn to any warrant against Craycraft but it is understood that his relatives have signed warrants for Craycraft's arrest.

Everett Ratliff and Clyde Stockham, South Portsmouth young men also followed a quarrel which developed at one of the card games on the bank. Ratliff had his nose broken in the melee. This morning both were fined $5 and costs for fighting by Squire Kinsey of South Portsmouth.

As a result of the victory joy reigns supreme in the house of the Champions while deep gloom prevails in the camp of the losers, who will have a chance to redeem themselves next Sunday when the second game of the series will be fought on the Otway diamond.

To Protect Wall.

To wash, paint or varnish wood work without soiling or marring the wall, use a piece of window glass with a straight edge about twelve inches long to hold between your work and the wall. This can easily be cleaned and will not warp or bend, as does a piece of cardboard, which is sometimes used.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Sense Qualities.

Instead of there being only five senses as we usually think, there are probably as many as 15. Four distinct senses, for example, are found in the skin. These are heat, cold, pain and pressure. What we usually call touch is a combination of these sense qualities.

C., July 25.—Preliminary details of the administration's tax program were talked over with President Harding today by Chairman Forney, of the house ways and means committee, which will begin hearings on revision tomorrow. ## CAMPBELL'S FATHER UPHOLDS HIM

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 25.—William H. Campbell, of Lexington, Ky., father of Major Bruce B. Campbell, charged with accepting $5,000 from Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll to aid in obtaining freedom for Grover G. Bergdoll, told a house investigating committee today that the major was telling the truth last week when he testified about a five hundred dollar investment increasing to six thousand dollars. Major Campbell said this accounted for a deposit to his account of $1,500 at about the time of the alleged payment.

The money, his father said, was placed with Milton Young, a race horse man, at Lexington, in 1915. Two years later, he added, Young gave him a package containing the larger amount which was turned over to Major Campbell.

Mr. Campbell was examined first by his son, who had previously testified that the money was kept in his home during the war and placed last year with a Wall street house and lost in speculation. The father said he did not know what form of speculation the five hundred dollars took in Mr. Young's hands. He did not think the fund grew from race track winnings.

While the committee was in session, Major Campbell received a telegram from the Ford National Bank at New York, saying that in 1917 there was deposited with that bank $5,037 to the account of Laura Campbell, his wife. The telegram corroborated Major Campbell's testimony last week to this effect.

SUBSTITUTE MARKETING BILL

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 25.—A substitute for the house co-operative marketing bill for agricultural producers was reported favorably today by the senate judiciary committee.

It contains a direct provision prohibiting agricultural associations from setting up monopolies. This, the committee report said, might be accomplished by the secretary of agriculture, was stricken out and the substitute bill, drafted by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, approved by the entire committee.

The committee added a new section authorizing co-operative agricultural associations to deal in products of non-members, but not in larger quantities than secured from its own membership.

GOVERNOR SMALL MAY CALL TROOPS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 25.—Action to be taken by Sangamon county authorities in their efforts to place Governor Small on trial on a charge of embezzlement of state funds was expected to be determined tomorrow morning by Judge B. S. Smith, when he reconvenes court.

Although the governor has made no statement of what he intends to do if a deputy from Sheriff Mester's office approaches the state house with a capita some of his friends constantly refer to the possibility of state troops being called to hold off deputies at the point of the bayonet.

State troops are camped at Camp Logan, near Chicago. Any movement of troops from that camp would be made on orders from Springfield.

When court reconvenes tomorrow, State's Attorney Mortimer is expected immediately to argue for the governor's arrest. The term of the Sangamon circuit court is being kept alive from year to year. If the judge does not order warrants served, in Governor Small tomorrow it is likely that court will be adjourned until the September term.

To Handle Financial Problems

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Legislation to broaden powers of the war finance corporation enabling it to handle the triple financial problems of the railroads, farm credits and export financing was suggested today by Secretary Hoover to effect economic readjustment throughout the country. Mr. Hoover said he had recommended such a step with the approval of Secretary Mellon and Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the war finance corporation. It was believed in administration circles that President Harding in his note to congress, tomorrow on the railroad financial situation, would present a proposal of this nature.

Complaint Dismissed

John Gaddis, 55 years old, junker, merchant and Washington, streets, was before the Municipal court Monday for alleged assault and battery upon one Clyde Rigby; but Judge Sprague dismissed the complaint after a witness testified that Rigby refused to appear to press the charge. The alleged assault occurred Saturday when Gaddis made some reference to the other man about stealing.

Collision Aired In Court

Lott A. Ladd, 917 Fourteenth street, appeared in Municipal court Monday to meet a charge of reckless driving, made by Mrs. William Harlow, resulting from a collision between their automobiles which occurred at Third and Market street about six o'clock Sunday evening.

The complainant claimed she had the right of way and that Ladd was to blame for the accident. The evidence disclosed that Ladd was running slowly at the time and while Judge Sprague made a finding that Ladd was probably technically guilty as charged yet the court passed the case for sentence with the advice to the parties to settle their differences in respect to claims for damages. Both machines were slightly damaged.

Sunday School Gathering

The Slab Run Union Sunday School, with Clark Schellenger, superintendent, enjoyed a very successful group gathering at Cole's Park, on the West Side, Sunday, July 24. During the morning session the regular Sunday school lesson was taken up for the hour, and competent instruction was given by the many teachers. There were 180 scholars in attendance. This program was followed by an interesting sermon by Mr. Schellenger. At noon, it was a delight to see and take part with the 180 people that grouped about the one elaborately spread dinner under the giant oak trees. The ladies deserve great credit for the efficient manner in which this part of the day's program was conducted. During the afternoon the scholars and teachers took part in songs and recitations, and a number of addresses were given, setting forth the work and problems of the Sunday schools. The unanimous expression was that many such meetings should be held. Two hundred people were in attendance during the day.

Tent Meetings Well Attended

The tent meeting at Third and Court streets was a very interesting place Sunday. Four splendid services were held. Beginning with an excellent love feast at 10 a. m. the meetings progressed with increasing interest and manifesting the presence of God climaxing in a great night service which began at 8. In this service the attendance more than taxed the seating capacity of the tent. Many who came a little late were forced to stand. The great congregational singing was very inspiring. It seemed so easy to sing that all were carried along with the spirit of song. Many singing who seldom ever are given to song. Mrs. Gump is a fine soloist. Her special song of "Old Time Religion" affected the audience, especially at the night service.

They are cordially inviting the hearty co-operation of all who love the gospel of Christ no matter of what denomination. They say they are not here to fear down but to preach Christ and Him crucified, believing that this gospel is the power of God unto salvation. Therefore with firm confidence they bring this message to the people of Portsmouth, knowing God will take care of His truth and apply it to the hearts of the people.

The services are to continue each night at 8. All are very welcome but come early if you would be seated.

For Two Nights Starting Tonight The Eastland Theatre Will Offer Bert Lytell, One Of The Screen's Most Popular Stars In His Newest Picture "A Message From Mars," The Play That Put The Planet On The Map. Comedy—News and Orchestra.

PROGRAM

A—Overture—"Evening Star" from Thannhouser—Eastland Orchestra.
B—The Eastland Weekly News.
C—A New Gaiety Comedy.
D—Bert Lytell In "A Message From Mars."
Enter Bert Lytell—this time in "A Message From Mars," the Maxwell Karger production made for Metro, a screen adaption from the successful stage play by Richard Ganthony. This picture will be seen at the Eastland Theatre tonight and will run for two days as the feature attraction.
It is one thing to be well-known and another to be well-liked but Bert Ly-tell has the charming personality which unites both, and all who know his versatile gifts will make the pilgrimage again in the expectation—and 'tis an expectation never disappointed—of seeing this preeminent star in a role that permits him to do brilliant impersonation.

The story itself is brilliant and flecked with the fantastic in sufficient measure to insure the attention of the audience without a pause. The mixture of romance and reality go to make it a really exceptional picture.
Briefly, it concerns Horace Parker, a wealthy young Englishman, who is so wrapped up in himself that he imagines the world revolves around him, and that he is a minor god. A series of lessons at the hand of a messenger from Mars, despatched to punish the most selfish man on earth and condemned to remain with him until regeneration is effected, soon takes the self-esteem out of him, and he rewin the love of the girl he lost.

The scenario was done by Arthur Zoller and Arthur Maude. Arthur Martinelli turned the crank, and M. P. Stupple designed and executed the art interiors. The supporting cast includes Ray Dean, Maud Milton, Alphonse Ethier, Gordon Ash, Leonard Maude, Mary Louise Beaton, Frank Currier and George Splink.

Murphy Wins Auto Race

LEMANS, France, July 25—(By the Associated Press)—Jimmy Murphy, America, won the grand prix automobile road race run here today. Ralph De Palma, America, was second; Goux, France, third and DuBouquet, fourth.

Murphy drove one of the American-entered Deussenberg cars and DuBouquet the wealthy French amateur driver, piloted another. DePalma drove one of the Ballot cars entered by France. Goux drove another of the Ballot entries.

The winner's time was 4 hours, 7 minutes, 10 seconds for the distance of 517 kilometers, 800 meters, or approximately 322 miles.

James Murphy, winner of the grand prix, is one of the latest American automobile drivers to spring into fame. He is a product of the Pacific coast, though his home is in Indianapolis.

Murphy began his racing career as a mechanic for Eddie O'Donnell and later associated with Eddie Rickenbacker and other famous drivers.

Qualifying as a driver in 1919, Murphy appeared in a number of championship contests and at Los Angeles in February, 1920, won the 250 mile national championship.

His intention.
"Being of no further use on earth," said Gaunt N. Grimm, "having grown thoroughly tired of trying to convince fools of their errors, feeling sure that none of the said fools will regret my departure any more than I should theirs under similar circumstances, and being as ready to go as I'll ever be, I shall now eat the large hunk of wedding cake that my niece has sent me."—Kansas City Star.

No Trick to Reduce.
If you are too stout, don't take fat-reducing medicine; cut down on your diet, get out-of-door exercise, and you will assume normal lines and reduce to normal weight. Avoid sweets, eggs, cream, fat meats, and especially potatoes. Live mainly on lettuce, spinach, cabbage, lean meats, young onions, celery, tomatoes, etc. Take salted toast instead of bread and butter. If you cease to give your body fattening foods you will cease creating fat cells. It is no trick to reduce if you practice self-denial.

Red Sox Defeat McDermott

Sunday afternoon at McDermott the New Boston Red Sox won a 2 to 1 game from McDermott the second of a series of three. McDermott won the first game several weeks ago at Millbrook park 5 to 4 in 12 innings. Yesterday the Red Sox turned the tables and won 2 to 1 in one of the closest games staged this season on the McDermott diamond. The contest was a pitcher's battle between Shover of the Red Sox and Ballengee of McDermott. Each allowed four hits and fanned a number of batters. The winners got their extra tally in the eighth, a free gift. Hoover singled to left and took second when left fielder McCormick heaved the ball wide to first instead of making a safe peg to second. Hoover took third on an infield out and scored on Doherty's error.

The two teams will meet later in the season for the third game of the series. The box score:
RED SOX AB R H PO A E
Taylor ss 4 0 1 0 2 1
Hoover, m 4 1 1 2 0 0

Lucas Pitches No Hit Game

Waverly, Ohio, July 25—Before a crowd of some four or five hundred fans, the fast Waverly ball team won its eighth straight victory by shutting out the Bainbridge Athletics Sunday afternoon at the local yard by a score of 11 to 0.

Chas. Lucas, of Portsmouth, was on the mound for Waverly and pitched brilliant ball. He was effective at all times and the Ross county boys were unable to secure a single hit off his delivery. He struck out 19 of the visitors and had them at his mercy at all times.

Howard Monk, Sap Kilch, Geo. Cornutta, Jimmy Banfield and Teddie Weber, of the River City, were also in the local line-up, and not only played their positions well but hit timely. Monk was the star at the bat, getting three doubles out of four trips to the plate. Kilch also secured a two-bagger which was responsible for the first two runs. The Portsmouth player with the exception of Lucas and Weber took the places of some of the Waverly players who had jumped to Chilliote.

Real Battles Open Today

NEW YORK, July 25.—The New York Nationals try again to wipe out part of the three game lead of the Pittsburgh League leaders. High scores featured the series in New York last week in which the Pirates were held to an even break, but the air tight pitching by the Pittsburgh twirlers in the Boston series promises low scores in the Giant-Pirate series in Pittsburgh. The probable twirlers for today are Toner, of New York, and Adams, of Pittsburgh.

The same margin of less than a game separates the Cleveland-American world's champions from their New York pursuers as was the case before the two clubs started their series ending in an even break yesterday. They will renew the struggle in New York next Saturday.

Fifteen two base hits, two three baggers and one home run were included in the 35 base hits made in yesterday's Washington-Detroit contest. Rice, of the Senators, batted a triple, three doubles and a single in six times at bat. Heilman, of the Tigers, made three doubles and a single.

All four of the New York National runs were batted in by First Baseman Kelly, who in addition to making his 10th home run of the season, hit a double and a single. The homer was his third in three days. Babe Ruth is the first major leaguer to pass the century mark in runs. Yesterday he tallied his 100th and 101st runs.

The winning streak of the St. Louis Americans ended yesterday at eight straight victories, when Jones, of Boston, held the Browns to six hits. The Browns will be without the services of its star first baseman, Sisler, who has been indefinitely suspended for an altercation with the umpire.

Fight Picture Row Is On

NEW YORK, July 25.—Tex Rickard, promoter of the July 2 fight between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier in Jersey City, and P. C. Quinby, motion picture producer, were summoned to appear before the federal grand jury today to testify concerning the alleged transportation of movies of the fight into this state from Jersey City in violation of federal law. Mr. Rickard has declared he knows nothing of the transportation of the pictures or of plans to show them here. Mr. Quinby also denied any part of their transportation, though admitting plans to exhibit them.

His contention is that the federal law prohibiting interstate transportation of pictures of a prize fight does not apply to the Dempsey-Carpentier bout, as that historic sporting event was a boxing match and not a prize fight.

Several hundred persons, attracted by advertisements and electric signs at a theater announcing first showing of the fight pictures last night, found the box office dark and were unable to gain any information as to when the actual showing would take place.

Rube Benton Is Released

NEW YORK, July 25.—The unconditional release of Pitcher John C. (Rube) Benton was announced today by John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Nationals. Club officials stated that the release followed numerous warnings to the veteran left-hander in regard to his failure to keep in condition. Benton, who was purchased from Cincinnati in 1916, has been in the National league since 1910.

Several hundred persons, attracted by advertisements and electric signs at a theater announcing first showing of the fight pictures last night, found the box office dark and were unable to gain any information as to when the actual showing would take place.

Lynch Vs. Herman Tonight

NEW YORK, July 25.—Pete Herman of New Orleans, will try tonight to regain the world's bantamweight championship title he lost in a fifteen round decision to Joe Lynch, of New York, in Madison Square Garden last December. The two boxers meet in a fifteen round decision contest at Eubank field, Brooklyn.

Since losing the title, Herman has knocked out Jimmy White, of England, world's flyweight champion, and Jimmy Higgins, British bantamweight champion. He displayed a punch in several other battles also.

Lynch was troubled with a broken hand since acquiring the championship, but it is said that the injury has healed completely and that the fighter is in splendid condition to defend his honors. Lynch is three inches taller than the former champion and has an advantage of three inches in reach.

STAR ATHLETE COMPLETES SCHOOL WORK

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 25.—Edward O. Gourdin, Harvard negro athlete, who set a new world broad jump record of 25 feet 3 inches last Saturday, has closed his college athletic career with an all-around record of track and field proficiency surpassing that of any man who ever wore the crimson. His ability in events, which he first tried as a freshman, is shown in a list of the marks he has made in actual competition. They follow:

100 yard dash, 23.5 seconds; 220 yard dash, 22.1 seconds; 440 yard dash, 22.1 seconds; broad jump, 25 feet 3 inches; high jump, 5 feet 9 inches. Running hop, skip and jump, 45 feet 3 inches; javelin throw, 140 feet; discus throw, 110 feet.

Gourdin will be as much decorated as a hero of many wars if he chooses to pin on his breast all the medals he has won in four years.

FOREIGN TENNIS TEAMS COMING

NEW YORK, July 25.—Two more tennis teams, one from India and the other from Denmark, are expected to reach here this week completing the arrival of foreign teams competing for the Davis cup.

The Denmark team is the semi-finals for the cup and will meet the winner of the match at Pittsburgh, August 4, 5, and 6, in which the British Isles will oppose the victor in the contests now in progress at Toronto between Australia and Canada.

India is to meet Japan on the courts of the Onward Club, Lake Forest, near Chicago, August 11 to 13.

When The Winner Quits

Cleveland Is Beaten

Cleveland could not make it three in a row from the fast traveling Yankees. The Indians, with Mails on the mound, lost Sunday's game, 7 to 3. Shawkey came back and won his second game in the series to the Yankees. ## SELF AGAINST THE STATE

LEN SMALL, governor of Illinois, has been indicted, the specific charge being embezzlement of close on to a million dollars, as treasurer of the state prior to his elevation to the governorship.

He is trying to resist arrest and so, at least to put off the reckoning on the plea that as governor he is immune therefrom. It may be a sound technical defense, but it isn't one to convince his constituents, or any one else, for that matter of his innocence. Either he didn't embezzle the money, or he did, and the fact either ought to be plain and easily susceptible of proof.

The ugly feature of the legal subterfuge that Small is resorting to in order to postpone trial, is that it ill comports with his alleged actions while treasurer. Certainly, he isn't to be pre-judged and found guilty, but his course arouses most serious doubts that factional malice, as he avers, is the sole ground of his prosecution, as he denominates it. Under the laws of Illinois no state treasurer can take fee or emolument from his position other than is by law and statute provided. That would seem to be broad and plain enough, yet the charge is that Small, and his confederates in conspiracy and robbery, took the moneys of the state and, through a bank, that had no existence at all, bought notes of some of Chicago's big industries, getting eight per cent interest thereon, and turned less than two per cent over to the state, pocketing themselves something over six per cent on the loans. Technically and morally, all the interest received belonged to the state, but Small as treasurer, instead of being the diligent watch dog, stands accused of sharing in the plundering to the extent of quite a million. Called to accounting, he, as an official, seeks to avail himself of the law to make his defence, a plea, which if sustained, will make the criminal law, as applied to him a farce.

No, it doesn't look right, but at that give the accused the benefit of the doubt. The prosecution doesn't seem at this distance to be actuated by honest and unselfish motives itself; functions like it was using the agencies of the law for political vengeance and ends. Back of the prosecution stands the Chicago faction of the Republican party, the bunch that last year backed Frank O. Lowden for president, at the same time opposing Len Small for governor because he was backed by Mayor Thompson. The division was the rawest that ever distracted the party in the state. Lowden was beaten for nomination, but Small was not. Now it is incredible, it could be just as well be impossible, that the Tribune crowd did not know every bit as much then about Small's transactions as it knows now, because Frank O. Lowden married an Armour, is attorney for the Armours and the great bulk of the loans upon which Small is charged with embezzlement were made to the Armour company.

If Small be guilty then the whole Tribune crowd ought to be held for compounding a felony, for it turned in and supported Small after he was nominated—anywise it didn't expose his mis-doing until after the election and when, it may be surmised, it found it couldn't get anything more out of him.

IT IS ALWAYS THE SAME

TALKING about automobiles! We sat, last night, on a porch, at the corner of two streets and watched the procession of automobiles go by. They passed at the rate of over a hundred a minute, most of them were going west—generally they seemed in a hurry—here came a big car with only one head light—roadster and Hootin' Nanny coming west fairly hitting it up—bet they are bound nowhere in particular—that car cuts the corner—large truck without any lights at all—unusually large car, moves slowly, makes fine turn—wonder why so many Tim Lizzies have only one headlight—two cars together, neither with tail lights—there's that corner cut recklessly again—Ford loaded to the guard as usual—no lights at all, but moving cautiously—taxi snorting along at not less than 30 miles an hour—no tail light—another big car sweeps handsomely on the turn—but smaller one from opposite direction turns in as though its way were to the left—roadster makes mad dash to make the crossing before an on coming street car—motor man has to slow down to play safe—four in a bunch—only two with rear lights—wonder of wonders Ford truck running most moderately and making perfect turn.

And thus it went so long as the traffic lasted.

You can never tell. The Republicans have let a Democrat, whose seat in congress was contested, hold on and he's a real Democrat too. We blush to confess the contestor is a relative of ours, but happily darn remotely so, both in blood and politics.

A fellow, who proclaims himself to be the voice of the organized farmers of Ohio proclaims expensive road building must stop. Would he go back to the old dirt and mud roads? Any good road is expensive, but that doesn't mean it isn't worth the price.

Some of the governmental contractors, who were caught by rising prices, clamored long and loud for "an adjustment," but since prices went down on contracts, based on war prices, there hasn't been a single "cheep" about adjustment heard from a single one of them.

Standard oil gets what it wants out of the new tariff measure, or shall we say gets it in it? What it wants, free crude oil. Standard owns most of the wells outside of the United States and to have pay duty when their products comes in wouldn't be at all comfortable.

It wasn't six of one and half dozen of another, but seven and seven—seven Democrats voting for the tariff bill and seven Republicans against it.

The Greeks are having a regular parade against the Turks. It happened that way once before, but let us hope the reverses will not come, as it did before.

Twenty million Russians are said to be starving to death. That wouldn't be so bad if they were the sort in their country that ought to starve to death.

The Size Of The House

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 25.—Some time before the present congress expires the house, with the concurrence of the senate, must pass a law to determine what its own size is to be for the next 10 years. An effort was made to get this business out of the way during the closing days of the last session, but the senate refused to pass the measure which had been adopted by the house.

The fight on this legislation has so many angles that the Census Committee of the house, charged with the responsibility of formulating the measure, is having a hard time of it. There has been a great deal of sentiment manifested against the apportionment of representatives so that any state would lose any of the seats it now holds in the house of representatives. Then there is brought forward the argument that the present size of the house, 435 members, makes efficient legislative work harder than if there were approximately 300 representatives.

Another view, strongly supported, would limit the number of members of the house to 485, and work out the new apportionment on that basis. This was strongly opposed, on the ground that some states would lose some of their seats, on the basis of the last decennial census, while there would be corresponding gains in other states.

Members of the Census Committee of the house realize that the work they have before them ought to be out of the way as soon as possible, as the outlining of congressional districts under the new apportionment must be made by the various state legislatures.

The measure introduced in the house by Chairman Siegel, the New York representative, at the head of the Census Committee, provided for fixing the size of the house for the next 10 years, when a new census will be taken, at 483 members. Government statisticians worked out tables for the committee which showed that this number was the lowest at which no state would lose any of its house seats, while 25 states would gain one or more members.

For a house membership of 483, as proposed, representation from each state would be one member of congress for every 218,986 people, and for each major fraction of that number. For instance, a state with a population of 540,000 souls would have two representatives in congress, while a state with a population of but 329,000 would have two also. The two representatives from the larger state would account for 437,972 of its people, and the rest of its population would be but 102,028 people, less than half of the 218,986 persons used as a unit. In the case of the smaller state, however, one representative would be sent to Washington, to represent 218,986 of the people of his state, which would leave 110,014. As this number is a major fraction of 218,986, another representative would be allotted to the state.

States That Would Gain
Under the proposal that the membership be increased to 483 California would be the chief beneficiary, gaining five seats and increasing its representation to 14 members. Four seats would be gained by Michigan, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania. Three seats would be gained by Illinois and Texas, and Massachusetts, New Jersey and North Carolina each would gain two seats. The states which would gain one seat are Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, Georgia, Maryland, Minnesota, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

When the report of the Census Committee was laid before the house during the last session, the committee strongly urged that congress adopt a constitutional amendment to limit the size of the house to not more than 500 members. Early action on this was urged in order that the state legislatures could have the constitutional amendment before them for ratification to the end that the amendment might be part of the law of the land before a new apportionment of congressional seats became necessary following the 1920 census.

It is generally conceded that the house does not function as well with a big membership as with a small one. However, the Census Committee quickly discovered that to reduce the apportionment would arouse a storm of protest from the states which would be cut. Another fight has developed over the efforts of some members to cut the size of the congressional representation in states where it was charged before the committee, the right to vote was denied or restricted in the case of some qualified voters. Denial or abridgment of the voting privilege, under the fourteenth amendment to the constitution, may be punishable by that state's having its representation in the house reduced.

In the proportion which those citizens denied the voting right bear to the whole body of voters in the state, the committee decided that it had not the time at its disposal to go into this question.

This applied particularly to the southern states, many conflicting statements having been submitted.

Presidential Elections Affected

One of the strongest reasons why the states fight so hard against reduction of their congressional representation is that it has an important bearing on future presidential elections. The number of electoral votes possessed by each state corresponds to its representation in both branches of congress. Should the southern states, or any of them, lose congressional seats, the stronghold of Democracy would be weakened in presidential elections in the future, and carrying the south would not weigh as heavily in the balance as is now the case.

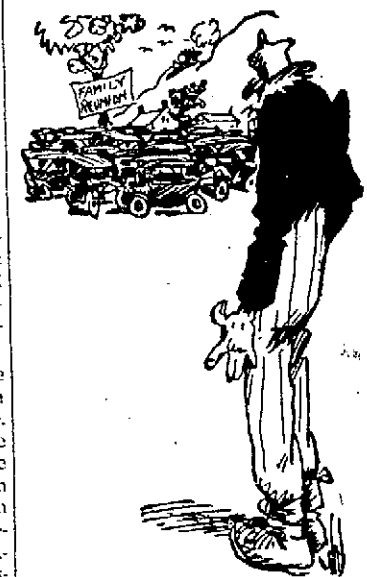

The size of the house has increased steadily since the birth of the country except in one instance. Originally it consisted of 65 members, one to each 30,000 of population. In 1793, on the basis of one member for every 33,000 people, the size of the house became 106. On the same basis, 10 years later, the house membership numbered 142. The increase continued, with the number of representatives being checked only by increasing the number of persons each was to represent. In 1843, however, congress reduced the size of the house, the only time recorded in history. The ratio of people was increased from 47,700 to 70,680, and this decreased the number of representatives from 242 to 232. In 1882, after the tenth census, congressional representation was based on one for each 33,011 persons, and this increased the size of the house from 232 to 332. Ten years later it became 357, 10 years after this 391, and after the thirteenth census the house grew to its present size of 435 members on a basis of one member to every 211,877 persons.

Sentiment for limiting the house at least to its present size, is fairly strong. This would be accomplished if the ratio of people for congressional districts was fixed at 242,415, or any major fraction of that number of people. The difficulty is that while the total membership would remain the same, eight states would gain members and eleven would lose. The total gain and loss would be 12 seats. California gaining three, Michigan, Ohio and Texas each, Connecticut, New Jersey, North Carolina, Texas and Washington each would gain a seat.

Offsetting this gain, Missouri would lose two seats, while one seat would be lost in Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Mississippi, Nebraska, Rhode Island and Vermont.

The members who urge that there be no increase declare that there is no duty that 435 members can accomplish which 435 cannot do as well, that the house will be more unwieldy and cumbersome than ever if increased in size, and that increasing the membership to 483 will result in additional salaries, clerk hire, mileage, et cetera, amounting to more than a million dollars annually. Six members of the Census Committee took this view at the last session, and brought in a minority report to that effect.

Red Geraniums
By Martin Haskell Clark
Life did not bring me silken gowns,
Nor jewels for my hair,
Nor sight of gabled, foreign towns,
In distant countries fair,
But I can glimpse, beyond my pane, a green and friendly hill,
And red geraniums aflame upon my
window sill.

The troubled cares of everyday,
The tiny, humdrum things,
May blind my feet when they would stray,
But still my heart has wings.

While red geraniums, are bloomed against my window glass,
And low above my green-sweet hill the wind-clouds pass.

And if my dreamings ne'er cope
true,
The brightest and the best,
But leave me lone my journey through.

I'll set my heart at rest,
And thank Thee, God, for home-sweet things, a green and friendly hill,
And red geraniums aflame upon my
window sill.

The Horse for Him, Maybe

A Scottish farmer of a miserly disposition bought a horse at a fair. On the way home he thought a drink of water would refresh it, so he got a pail of water, but the animal would not take it. When he got home he offered it a feed of corn, but to his surprise it would not touch that, either.

"Well," he muttered to himself, "if only I was sure ye were a guid worker ye're the verra horse for me."

The Bond Makes the Difference

On one occasion when Marshal Pétain (who, by the way, was married at the age of sixty-four) was inveigling against marriage he wound up by remarking that a "large proportion of married people led a cat-and-dog life."

"Oh, come now," objected his friend, "isn't that rather too sweeping? Besides, cats and dogs don't always quarrel. Look at those two on your hearth rug. They get on very well together."

"Yes, they do," admitted Pétain. "But you tie them together and see what happens then."

Look Against Him

A homely young English chap, having been obstructed by the head of the girl in front of him, ventured to protest.

"See here, miss," he said, leaning over. "I want to look as well as you."

"Oh do yer?" she replied, in a rich cockney accent. "Then you'd better run home and change yer face."

Knew His Place

Two negro soldiers who were returning from France at the close of the war were discussing what they would do when they returned to Richmond, Va.

"What are you going to do, Elijah?" asked one.

"Well, Alexander," said the other as he looked dreamily across the steamer's rail at the horizon beyond, "when I get back to Richmond I'm going to put on white shoes, white pants, a white coat, an' a white tie, an' I'm going to walk down a street with white folks. What are you going to do, Alexander?"

"Huh!" came the reply. "I'm going to put on black shoes, black pants, a black coat, an' a black tie, an' I'm going to walk down the street, tee-beh'n' yo' hearse!"

Speaking of mixed metaphors—an exceedingly long and winding sentence was relating his experiences somewhere over there.

"I'll say it was some battle. I was up in the air for the time being with my pack against the wall, but I resolved to die in the ditch rather than field an inch, so I continued to advance regardless of the jerries who were pressing me from the rear."

Q. How did vaudeville get this name? S. M.

This word has in some way grown from Vaux de Vire, the name of two valleys in France. A native Vire composed some satirical drinking songs which became popular throughout France, under the name of Vaux de Vire. The name was used for other collections of songs and became corrupted into vox de ville, and finally to vaudeville.

Q. Are the Indians actually decreasing in numbers? T. H. B.

A. While the 1920 Census shows an actual decrease in the number of Indians, this is explained by the fact that the census enumerators classed those who were persons having only a slight trace of Indian blood, while in 1910 these were classed as Indians. The Indians have shown very little change in numbers in the past half century.

Q. What is the name of the city in which a man climbed a tree to see Jesus? B. S.

Q. What meaning is attached to the name of the French town Caracassone? H. M.

A. Caracassone is used to express a place to which everyone has a particular desire to go. It is a kind of generic term, as it were. The actual town has hired many visitors, since it ranks as "one of the most remarkable monuments of the Middle Ages, existing."

General Public Insolvency

One of the gravest faults in our political system, and one which threatens dire results, is the ease with which indebtedness is incurred by both small and large political units, the country over, under state, county and municipal governments. The obligations piled up against taxpayers are beyond all reason, and far beyond their present or prospective power to pay.

Some such curb upon expenditures as is now being worked out at Washington, and a drastic prohibition of all debt-making until present indebtedness shall be met, is needed in thousands of political bodies now legally empowered to borrow money for public purposes in political units already at the point where no settlement of existing debts could possibly be made without the confiscation of private property.

One small county and one small municipality we know will serve as instances of the general public extravagance during the past twenty or thirty years which may well cause prospective investors in county and municipal bonds to give the closest attention to the actual financial condition of the units offering them for sale. In the county we specify Pike county, for a large amount were paid as they matured by new bonds for twenty years. Only recently has any actual reduction of the indebtedness been accomplished. In the municipality referred to a waterworks system was built some thirty years ago. Twenty-five years later the bonds representing construction costs were paid—with the proceeds of new bonds issued and sold. And not a dollar of the indebtedness has been paid, and the waterworks and its mains are about what might be expected after thirty years of service.

The waterworks paid well, and accumulated a handsome surplus, which was expended not to reduce indebtedness, but to cover "emergencies" such as always occur in communities where people who thrive on taxes are in office. Everything has been straight and strictly legal in the handling of the waterworks and its funds, but in thirty years not a dollar of its initial cost has been paid!

This is the sort of thing that has been going on. Municipal improvements—not paid for. County improvements—not paid for; but legislatures imposing greater and greater obligations on county governments while limiting rates of taxation. The county we speak of owes thousands of dollars to the state for the clothing of its insane, feeble-minded and epileptics in public institutions, which it cannot possibly pay, but goes on with road improvements and the reconstruction of worn out pikes not yet paid for, at heavy expense.

It is unlikely in country units where county taxation officials are elected whose personal affairs are limited to from one to two thousand dollars a year, that any reform in expenditures will occur under existing laws. A county is very rich in their eyes, their powers are larger than their financial intelligence, their acts are what might be expected. In big municipalities conditions are much the same, plus largeascalities and "adroit" schemes to divert public money to private profit. Perhaps the only way to check the drift to insolvency would be to make the private property of every tax-paying and spending official liable after two years for the public obligations they create.

Hotel Room Rates

A committee of a hotel men's association in New York says rates for rooms cannot be reduced "now or in the immediate future," the reason alleged being that the absence of bar profits has seriously crippled hotel receipts.

From this one inference follows, which is that during all the years preceding prohibition the patrons of the bars have been helping to pay the room rent of those who did not drink. Perhaps the drinkers will not enjoy that conclusion.

However, the hotel men in New York declare unequivocally that the saloon business they did was their principal source of profit, which makes one wonder why they invested so much capital in great hotels instead of applying themselves to the retailing of liquor alone. Also, one wonders why hotels without bars, in the wet years, usually supplied rooms at a less rate than those which had bars.

Hartford, Conn., with an insurance premium income of one million dollars a day, feels no shortage in funds, of which there is an abundance for all the business needs of what must be a happy city.

NEW YORK, July 25.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys:

Up and in my best cloth, walking with great pleasure in the brave sunshine. Stopped at Murray's bachelor quarters to see V. Porter, the editor, but that merry gentleman was away at the countryside in his petrol car. And so put in at the Pinar's and J. Corbett and young Jack Osterman took me to a public bar for breakfast.

The city might pleasant and in the afternoon I took my wife by coach to Inspiration Point far up the Hudson and we watched the water sparkling in the sun and the Palisades all ready turning to a purple haze. So many fine homes on the water front, in especial C. Schwab's, closed and locked which appears a pity.

In the late afternoon at my scribbling and came news that my Uncle Reuben is dead, which grieves me, yet I sometimes wonder if it is not false grief to mourn those who are gone; maybe they do not need our pity. Talk is hot of better business in the Autumn which I pray may prove true.

Granulla Rice, who sings roundelays for readers of the sporting pages, has a friend in Shanghai who wrote for an old shirt of Rice's from which would be made some dazzling creations of Canton silk. Rice sent his oldest, not noticing that the laundry had covered a cigarette burn in the bosom with a patch. The other day he received the shirts, each one gloriously dazzling and bearing the same size patch on the bosom.

The New York hoodlums are indulging a bit of midsummer madness known as "crushing the gate." At the Polo Grounds they have had to secure 25 new special policemen and at a recent prize fight several heads were busted by the rowdies who run in packs and beat down the gate tender, thereby gaining admittance without charge.

It is announced that the big New York hotels will not reduce their prices. They are firm in their stand but unhappily the public seems just as firm. This time last year it was almost impossible to secure lodgings in the big hostleries. They were putting patrons away on cots in the halls. Now they are sending runners to the union stations and steamship floors after business and entire floors are closed in any number. Visitors have found that they can go to the small side street hotels at pre-war prices.

Incidentally they are finding a more home like atmosphere and the individual attention to the guest is more in evidence. People who patronize the hotels are not so keen about "putting on side" by having a big hotel address. They have also discovered that it means nothing.
